Ken Clay	Lehigh-Product Search Grid Mod	Adding mix description is a problem due to the extra column in the search grid for other product types and the fact that the mix description can be different for each plant which could cause many extra entries in the search grid. One idea is to add a column like Product.Notes and put that in the search grid. This would require customer to maintain the mix description in two places. However, customer feels they could write a SQL job to update the new column from the mix description of a specific plant. Bottom line, this is not required for go live. So customer agrees to table it until the beginning of May or until their QC Dept has finalized their new naming conventions.	11/Apr/2006	0.87
